

Orientation of Solen shells

On each photo draw a line along the crest of a ripple mark. Then measure the angle between the length of the Solen shell or part of it and the ripple mark crest. The angles should be less than 180° . Record the angles and then plot a rose diagram of their directions.

What relationship is there between the ripple and Solen orientations?
The photographs were taken on a beach on the north Norfolk coast.

